Perspective of Patriot

The annual rate of increase in the country's total headcount currently seems to have come down significantly compared to the years some two decades ago. The rate of yearly addition to the mass of earlier year(s) and the actual increment of more than one crore every year need to be reckoned together for a clear understanding of the phenomenon of population explosion, a term occasionally heard in public domain. The numbers of the country's diverse sections based on faiths and creeds they are known to follow and wish to be identified under those faiths, castes as revealed by their personal names, ethnicity, regions that host them egging them to be called sons-of-the-soil, lingo spoken (including those without script) and so on, going by the demographic picture sourced to official data, sets a scenario in which some all-too-familiar sections pro-actively increase their numbers resulting in a steadily rising proportion of people in the total headcount. This feature is on expected lines in the backdrop of vociferous clamour for favoured treatment for jobs in the Government as well as plum posts in many establishments and berths in the Cabinets of State Governments as in Karnataka.

Senior citizens can vouch for times when decisions were made by powers that be, like in the period of monarchy in the erstwhile Mysore State, in the matter of identifying persons for key positions in administration, not to forget the posts of Professors and Vice-Chancellors of the Universities, based on their credentials, irrespective of other aforementioned classifications, much to the delight of society of those days. Today's dispensation is a far cry from that of the past.

While the country is endowed with bountiful resources that support life of (its rising) human population as well as all other (shrinking) life forms, in addition to sustained production in agri and industry sectors, their per capita access to these is dismally low compared to global norms, prompting the view in many quarters that the country's large population is indeed a national liability. Further, the inference that if the country's people did not keep the rate and increment of its population in check, many would starve, is nearer to reality than just a harsh-sounding remark. While the right of enduring progeny to any family cannot be questioned, the cause of country's wellness also cannot be sidelined. In this context, PM Modi's remark on population comes with a timely message that population explosion was a challenge now and for the future, adding that those who had small families were patriots, an appropriate perspective of patriotism.

Corbett National Park is agog with excitement. A tiger and a tigress, Sher Bahadur and Shermati Padmini are discussing it. Sher Bahadur: I was talking to the guys down by the watering-hole, and they're all saying that this place has become famous. Shermati Padmini: The girls I met at my kitty party were saying the same thing. I thought this place was already famous. Sher Bahadur: It was famous. But now it's become even more famous. And it's all thanks to the PM who gave a TV interview here to that chap with a funny name, Bear Grylls – I wonder why a human would want to call himself a bhalu – with the result that Corbett National Park has become internationally famous, and will attract visitors from all over the world. Shermati Padmini: So, that's cool isn't it? It's nice to have lots of visitors. Sher Bahadur: Yeah, but from experience we know what these visitors bring along with them. Shermati Padmini: You mean blaring boom boxes playing filmi ganashana at full volume, and cell phones on which they talk as loudly as they can, in between taking selfies, to show what a good time they're having? Sher Bahadur: Yeah, all that. Plus plastic water bottles which they leave lying all over the place, along with empty packets of pan masala, and graffiti they scrawl on trees and rocks. Shermati Padmini: *Oh dear, I tend to forget all that. And to think they call us wildlife – we're nowhere near as wild as our visitors... — Jug Suraiya in The Times of India

Divorce for loving too much and not arguing !

Fujairah: A woman has decided to divorce her husband after a year of marriage, because he loved her too much and never argued with her even once.

A UAE woman recently sought to divorce her husband at the Shariah Court in Fujairah, because she felt chocked by his love and affection. To make matters "worse", the husband reportedly never argued with her during their one-year marriage and even helped her with house chores like cleaning, which she described as "hell".

"He never yelled at me or turned me down," the poor woman reportedly told the court. "I was choked by extreme love and affection. He even helped me clean the house."

The husband told the stunned judges that he felt he had done nothing wrong, and that his sole goal was to "be a perfect and kind husband". Unfortunately, it seems like it was his excessive desire to please his wife that made her want to ask for a divorce.

Dangerous fuse boxes

Sir,

It is not known whose great idea it was to fix the fuse boxes to electrical poles so close to the ground in entire Mysuru city. Due to lack of maintenance, many such fuse boxes are appearing open without any closures and the wires exposed (see photo taken very recently on D.Devaraj Urs Road close to Santhepet Cross) and inviting risk of giving electric shock to people, especially children, who do not know the consequence of touching such open wires.

There are several such open fuse boxes on D.D. Urs Road and JLB Road itself. This reminds me the recent incident in which a cow, which went close to a transformer in search of food got electrocuted near Abhishek Circle in city (Star of Mysore dated Aug.7).

It is requested that the Department staff concerned should proactively close all such fuse boxes with proper lids (covers) and relocate to a much safer (higher) place on the poles for the safety of citizens before any causality is reported due to such open fuse boxes. They should not wait for a mishap to happen to take action!

Sir,

Thanks to SOM for highlighting 'Smart Grid Symposium' (SOM dated Aug.23) jointly held by CESC and Karnataka Electricity Board Engineers at Kadakola, Mysuru, which is the need of the hour in the present ever-growing domestic and industrial power consumers' demand — both HT and LT (High Tension and Low Tension).

City Court sentences man to death by hanging for burning alive his lover

Mysuru, Aug.27 (RK&KS)- In a landmark judgment, city's 6th Additional District and Sessions Court Judge B.S. Jayashree has sentenced a man to death by hanging for burning alive his lover for pressuring to marry her.

The accused, who has been sentenced to be hanged, is 29-year-old N. Pramod Kumar, a native of Doddinduvadi village in Kollegal taluk and a resident at Sharadadevi Nagar in Mysuru, while the victim is Kruthikadevi (19), who was a resident of Kollegal in Chamarajanagar district. She was pursuing her second year B.Com course at a college in Kollegal.

Kruthikadevi

Pramod

Details

Pramod, an MBA graduate, who was also lending money on interest, was in love with Kruthikadevi. He had taken Kruthikadevi's gold ornaments, which he had pledged with a private finance company and had given the money he got from pledging to others on interest. As Pramod had promised to marry Kruthikadevi, she had given her gold ornaments to Pramod.

In the meantime, Pramod's family had searched a girl for Pramod to get him married and Kruthikadevi, who came to know about it, began to exert pressure on Pramod to marry her. But Pramod, who had decided to marry the girl his family had seen for him, decided to eliminate Kruthikadevi, who was pressuring him to marry her, it is learnt.

How he killed Kruthikadevi

In the month of December, 2014, Pramod brought Kruthikadevi from Kollegal to Mysuru and made her stay at a lodge near Sub-urban Bus Stand. On Dec.21, 2014, he brought her (Kruthikadevi) in his Ford Ikon car (KA-03 MP-3177) to the outskirts of Mysuru towards R.T. Nagar and after reaching an isolated place, he struck Kruthikadevi's head with a wheel spanner and made her unconscious. He then dumped her into a manhole and drove to a petrol bunk, where he purchased petrol in a can. Pramod, who came back to the spot, poured petrol on Kruthikadevi, who was still alive and writhing in pain and set her on fire before fleeing from the spot.

The next day morning, one S. Raju, who was on his morning walk, found the charred body inside the manhole and informed the Police. Jayapura Police, who rushed to the spot, found the charred body and registered a case. As the body was beyond recognition and no clues found at the spot, the Police were unable to identify the body and after waiting for two days, the Police conducted the last rites.

How the accused was caught

As the case had become a challenge to the Police, the then Superintendent of Police (SP) Abhinav Khare had formed a special Police team led by Dy.SP (Rural) Dr. Vikram V. Amathe.

The Police team began to gather information about vehicles that had passed on R.T. Nagar on Dec.21 night. The team also found a CCTV installed at a residential layout a little distance away from the spot of crime and upon checking the CCTV footages of the camera, the Cops saw a car coming to the spot of crime at about 11.50 pm and 12.30 midnight which stopped for a while and left. As it was dark, the car's registration number was not clear.

The Police, then collected the mobile phone numbers which were active at the mobile tower near the spot of crime and found that there were 20 numbers that were active that night. The Police then began to question the owners of the 20 mobile phone numbers that were active and were confirmed that the first four persons who were questioned were not involved in the crime.

The fifth person, who came to the Police Station, was Pramod. As he had come in his Ford Ikon car, the Police began to doubt him. When the Police interrogated him intensively, they came to know that Pramod had killed Kruthikadevi by burning her alive as she was pressurising him (Pramod) to marry her.

The Police then recovered the gold ornaments of Kruthikadevi from the private finance company, where Pramod had pledged them. They also made staff of the petrol bunk from where Pramod had purchased petrol in the night and the staff of the lodge, where Pramod and Krithikadevi had stayed for three days, as witnesses.

The Judge, who considered the statements of the witnesses and also considering the mobile phone number of Pramod, which was active at the spot of crime, sentenced Pramod to death by hanging.

Special Public Prosecutors Anand Hosamani, Vasanthi Angadi and Manjula, argued on behalf of the Government.

CM Yediyurappa has requested Governor Vajubhai R. Vala for his time at 11.30 am for the swearing-in ceremony at the Raj Bhavan. However, there is no confirmation received from the Governor's office, it is said. The Chief Minister, who sent an official communiqué with regard to the allocation of portfolios to the Ministers and appointment of the Deputy Chief Ministers, sought Governor's permission to expand his Cabinet for the second time just a week after the first expansion took place on Aug.20.

Outgoing BJP State President and CM B.S. Yediyurappa is seen greeting the new BJP State President Nalin Kumar Kateel at the party headquarters at Malleswaram in Bengaluru this morning as BJP State In-charge P. Muralidhar Rao looks on.

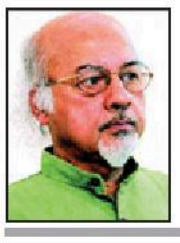
Floods, the language of Nature



Point of VIEW

T.J.S. George

Kempegowda, the Founder of Bangalore (now Bengaluru), had received clear instructions from his mother: "Build lakes, plant trees." He did that, making a hundred lakes without disturbing the undulating terrain and lining pathways with leafy trees. The result was a city unlike any other. With parks and waterways, human settlements and market places forming an integrated whole, Bangalore became a verdant, healthy and beautiful urban centre.

Then came Democracy. Which brought in elected representatives of the people, more powerful and less worthy than Kempegowda's mother. They went for a magical, mystical wonder called development. In about three decades they filled up 2,000 hectares of lakes. In the late 2000s alone, they felled 50,000 trees. In Southern Bangalore, a housing society rises proudly from what was once the centre of a picturesque lake. Development was so impressive that before people knew what was happening, Bangalore's urban sprawl became the largest municipal corporation in the country. Water scarcity has already begun in parts of this megalopolis. Experts predict that evacuation of people from Bangalore may not be far away.

Floods that have devastated vast regions of India in the last couple of months are a reminder of the catastrophe to which development is leading us. Floods are a language through which Nature speaks. Humans understand the language — and, greedy for development, ignore it. Hence the likelihood of the world ending in a maha pralay rather than in fire, under a sheet of ice, or global warming due to global misuse of resources.

This time, Nature has been speaking quite bluntly. From Himalayan resorts like Shimla to even desert destinations like Pushkar in Rajasthan, floods became a threat. Landslides buried humans under muddy debris from Uttarakhand to Kerala. Hundreds died, mostly in Kerala, but also in Karnataka, Maharashtra, Assam, Bihar and Gujarat.

We need to note that this is a recurring affair. Uttarakhand was devastated by a cloudburst in 2013 that was rated as the worst natural disaster since the 2004 tsunami. The floods that ravaged Kerala this year was a repeat of last year's tragedy. Every year 2,000 lives are lost to floods and 80 lakh hectares of land devastated.

This will go on because our kind of "development" destroys the balance of nature. Paddy lands are turning into housing colonies. Rock formations are disappearing under the relentless onslaught of the quarry mafia. There are construction mafias, sand mafias, brickmakers' mafias and, from the time of forest brigand Veerappan, a flourishing granite mafia. What chance has Nature against these powerful entities each of which flourishes under political patronage?

Two years ago the Kerala High Court specifically ruled that natural drains and streams should not be obstructed by developers and builders. That remains on paper. Wetlands continue to disappear, sometimes even under government auspices "for road building." It is useful to note that in Indonesia the rising sea is threatening the densely populated Java Island and there is talk of the capital being moved from Jakarta to Kalimantan in the rugged Borneo island.

Our sages anticipated this, hence the Vedic references to the maha pralaya that would trigger, at the end of the chaturyuga, cataclysmic events that wipe out all life on the planet.

Last week waves lashing the Marina Beach in Chennai appeared to be on fire. The waves were spectacularly blue and sparkling, something that had not happened in living memory. Informed speculation is that the "ignited' waves are indicative of climate change and warming of ocean currents. The vision no doubt delighted citizens but scientists were worried.

So what's happening? As we destroy nature, is nature destroying us? That, of course, will be an uneven fight. Nature exploding with anger will be a phenomenon none of our human mafias will be able to counter. Perhaps our sages anticipated this, hence the Vedic references to the maha pralaya that would trigger, at the end of the chaturyuga, cataclysmic events that wipe out all life on the planet. Greek, Egyptian, Indonesians, Mexican mythologies have similar scenarios while the Bible and the Koran speak of the Great Deluge.

Religion can lead to stupidity as well. An American Pastor went public with the prediction that Jesus would return in 1988, then changed the date to between 2018 to 2028. He gained a decade to think of some other ruse. According to a survey in Britain in 2015, as many as 23 percent of the people think life on earth would end either with a nuclear war or on account of artificial intelligence. Most significantly, they said the apocalypse would occur during their lifetime, that is our lifetime.

One way or the other, the end is nigh.

Howdah elephant Arjuna weighs 5,800 kilograms

Howdah Elephant Arjuna being weighed at the Electronic Weighing Centre on Dhanvantri Road here this morning in the presence of Veterinarian Dr. D.N. Nagaraju and others.

Mysuru, Aug. 27 (KS)- The first batch of six Dasara elephants, which arrived in Mysuru on Aug. 22 and were welcomed into Mysore Palace yesterday, underwent weight checking this morning, as they would undergo rigorous training for Jumboo Savari from tomorrow.

The elephants were brought from the Mysore Palace to Sri Sairam and Co., Electronic Weighing Centre on Dhanvantri Road here at about 8 am, where they underwent weight checking. Sri Sairam and Co. has been checking the weights of Dasara elephants since about 26 years.

The weight of the six Dasara elephants which were weighed this morning are: Arjuna -5,800 kgs, Varalakshmi-3,510, Eshwara-3,995, Dhananjaya-4,460, Vijaya-2,825 and Abhimanyu-5,145 kgs.

Last year (2018), Arjuna weighed 5,650 kgs, Varalakshmi 3,120 and Dhananjaya weighed 4,045 kgs when they arrived. Eshwara is participating for the first time in Dasara this year.

After the weight of all the six Dasara elephants were checked, the elephants were taken up to Old RMC Circle on the Jumboo Savari route, where flower and fruits vendors offered the elephants flowers and fruits.

The weight of an elephant is said to be very important to decide on the quality and quantity of its diet, ensuring that they gain enough strength to undergo the arduous journey on the Jumboo Savari day.

Veterinarian Dr. D.N. Nagaraju, speaking to Star of Mysore said that the six Dasara elephants which arrived in the first batch to Mysuru underwent weight checking this morning and added that the elephants will be put on special diet from today.

Training on Jumboo Savari route from tomorrow

The training to familiarise them on the Jumboo Savari route will begin from tomorrow morning, Dr, Nagaraju said and added that after three days, they would be made to carry weight by placing sand bags in a cradle-like structure tied on their backs which would be gradually increased. He further said that later, a wooden howdah would be tied on the back of Golden Howdah carrying elephant Arjuna and sand bags equivalent to the weight of the Golden Howdah would be placed inside the wooden howdah and would be taken on the Jumboo Savari route so that Arjuna gets accustomed to the weight and crowd.

Elephants above 60 years cannot carry weight

Stating that Arjuna is 59 years of age and as per High Court order, elephants that are 60 years and above should not be made to carry weight, Dr. Nagaraju said that the next in line is Abhimanyu, who is 53 years and he can carry weight for another seven years. Hence, we have to get the next batch of elephants ready, which include Gopi, Gopalaswamy, Eshwara and Dhananjaya as they are young.

These young elephants would be trained for five years so that they get accustomed to the crowd, he said and added that we cannot force the elephants to carry weight all of a sudden as it would be very difficult for them and it is not right to do so. Gopalaswamy is avoided this year, as he is in Musth, Dr. Nagaraju added.

The six Dasara elephants taken on a practise walk after their weights were checked.

Sreenivasa Prasad not happy with three Dy. CMs posts

Mysuru, Aug.27 (RKB&NNN)- The three Deputy Chief Ministers (Dy.CMs) named to work alongside Chief Minister B.S. Yediyurappa yesterday along with portfolios allocated to 17 Ministers, has not gone down well with many members in the BJP and MP V. Sreenivasa Prasad is also cut up about it.

Addressing a press conference at a private hotel here this morning, he said that the idea of three Deputy Chief Ministers is totally wrong and it will send wrong signals. The BJP Government was formed after the support of the disqualified members in the previous coalition Government.

After this it was totally wrong on the part of the high command to suggest three Dy. CMs, he said.

Sreenivasa Prasad

Earlier, reacting to the question about his take on internal reservations which he claimed he had never said at a seminar on 'One Century of Reservation - Since the time of Mysore Kings' organised at Dr. B.R. Ambedkar Research and Extension Centre, Manasagangothri recently, he claimed that he had never spoken about internal reservation but it was wrongly reported in a section of the media that he had spoken about it.

All he had said was that he had spoken about Reservation as a concept found in the Constitution and though it is meant for SC/ST and it has been there since the last 70 years, the concept had weakened now.

Reservations should be meant for those from the socially and economically poor background and from the Minority communities. A discussion on this has to be held at the national level and a report must be presented to the Government, but I had not spoken about internal reservation at all, he reiterated.

CM gets three Deputies

It may be mentioned here that Star of Mysore had carried a news item titled 'BSY to have not One, not Two but Three Dy.CMs' on Aug. 24 mentioning Govind Karjol, C.N. Ashwath Narayan and K.S. Eshwarappa to be appointed as Dy.CMs. It may be recalled, the earlier BJP Government had two Dy.CMs (Ashoka and Eshwarappa).

The distribution of the portfolios comes in the wake of delayed announcement of CM Yediyurappa's cabinet, after the Chief Minister took oath alone a month ago on July 26 and the expansion of his cabinet came under criticism from opposition Congress and JD(S).

The three Deputy CMs named today has also caused heartburn among the other senior members of the party with Minister Sriramulu, former CM Jagadish Shettar and others said to have expressed their displeasure with CM Yediyurappa. Sources, also said that Yediyurappa is said to have informed the senior members that he played no role in the appointments of DyCMs as all decisions were taken by the Party High Command.

Meanwhile, BSY is keeping with him several key portfolios like Finance, Power, Food and Civil Supplies, Irrigation, Urban Development, Bengaluru Development and related affairs, among others. Some of these portfolios are likely to be allocated to disqualified Congress-JD(S) MLAs as and when they make it to the Ministry.

Yediyurappa has kept 16 Minister posts vacant to accommodate some more BJP members and from among those 17 disqualified legislators who helped him come to power. The then Assembly Speaker K.R. Ramesh Kumar had disqualified 17 Congress-JD (S) rebel MLAs under the anti-defection law, which they have challenged in the Supreme Court.

He recalled that the arduous penance undertaken by Vishwamitra Rishi should be a guideline for younger generation to achieve any goal. He said that the achievements of Shankaracharya, Ramakrishna Paramahamsa, Swami Vivekananda and other great personalities should be studied in depth.

Continuing, Sulibele said that nature of people may change with time but not the essence of Vedas and Upanishads. He regretted that youngsters are not made to understand the intricacies and ancient scriptures for various reasons. He observed that religious festivals are being just celebrated now without knowing the significance of any rituals performed. He added that when Westeners identify something important in Indian rituals, people suddenly become active to probe the issue.

Karnataka Premier League

WOW-RRIORS!

Records tumble as Joshi steers Mysuru Warriors to victory

Mysuru, Aug. 27- They were eyeing for a comeback and what a comeback it was. Aniruddha Joshi cemented his position as a bona fide legend in Karnataka Premier League (KPL) with one of the finest knocks under pressure as Mysuru Warriors did the unthinkable in chasing 241 runs against Ballari Tuskers at the SDNR Wadiyar Stadium.

Joshi's staggering 125 from 58 balls and an equally important nine-ball 30 from Manjesh Reddy helped the Warriors reach 241 for 7 in 20 overs in response to Tuskers' 240 for 2 in the allotted quota of overs in the 19th match of the KPL.

Ballari Tuskers won the toss, elected to bat and scored the second-highest score in KPL history on the back of a 92 not out from skipper C.M. Gautam. The Mysuru Warriors stuttered to 34 for 3 before Joshi, the second-highest paid cricketer this season at Rs.7.1 lakh, took the game away from the Tuskers.

Later, when Joshi was dismissed by K. Gowtham in the 18th over with the Warriors needing 42 from 18 balls, a significant portion of the 3000-odd people in the stands were starting to leave the Stadium only to rush back when Manjesh brought the equation down to 20 runs in the final over.

M. Venkatesh's four followed by his dismissal meant 16 runs were still required. The last four balls read: 2, 6, 2, 6 with Manjesh finishing the must hit 6 in the last ball. With this win, Warriors move to fourth on the table with six points from six games.

Tuskers, who had qualified for the playoffs before arriving in Mysuru, had only a few overs ago scored the second-highest total in KPL history, eclipsing Bengaluru Blasters' 228 for 5 against Belagavi Panthers in 2018. The record for the highest score is still held by Hubli Tigers, who smashed 245 for 6 against the Rockstars in 2014.

While C.M. Gautam, the Tuskers' skipper, was the top-scorer with an innovative 92 from 50 balls and Devdutt Padikkal (57 from 31 balls) was on fire, it was K. Gowtham's 24-ball 48 that truly dented the Warriors.

After the 75-run second-wicket alliance between Gautam and Gowtham ended, the former added 109 runs with Padikkal to break the Warriors' back.

With nothing to lose, the Warriors' batsmen swung at it all. Three batsmen didn't succeed. Joshi, however, was in a different zone, smashing 9 of the 17 total sixes in the innings. It must be noted that he was dropped on 90 by Abhishek Reddy.

Gowtham was once again special with his bowling, picking up 4 for 28 in his quota, but he could only watch in disbelief from midwicket as Manjesh sealed it with a six over long-on. To summarise, 481 runs were scored in 240 deliveries, and the crowd loved every moment of it.

Centre accused of ignoring Labour interests

Mysuru, Aug. 27 (YDS&DM)- Accusing the Centre of clipping the wings of Labour Laws which were framed following 150 years of struggle by the working class, Senior Advocate from Bengaluru Clifton D'Rozario alleged that with the RSS backed BJP Government at the Centre, moves are being made to change the Constitution. He was speaking at a seminar on the 'Impact of recently passed UAPA Act, Right To Information Act, Trade Unions Act and such other Acts' jointly organised by Akhila Bharath Praja Vedike, PUCL and Mysuru Responsible Citizens, at Rotary Hall on JLB Road here on Saturday.

Accusing the Centre of flouting the Constitution by diluting pro-Labour clauses such as minimum wages, payment of wages and bonus, equal pay for equal work etc., Rozario flayed the Central Government's decision to fix minimum wage at Rs.176 per day which is grossly inadequate in these days.

Claiming that the BJP-led Union Government was issuing licences to industrialists without a proper check, he accused the NDA Government of pushing Laws, Acts and Bills sans any debate or discussion, which is dangerous to our Parliamentary system of Democracy.

Claiming that the Centre abrogated Article 370 after ensuring that no Kashmiri ventured out of homes, Rozario questioned the Centre's decision to grant 10 percent reservation to the economically weaker sections.

Alleging that an innocent advocate who worked for tribal causes has been arrested, he strongly condemned the alleged efforts being made to privatise public sector units, Railways etc.

Advocate B.T. Venkatesh too spoke. Maj. General (retd.) S.G. Vombatkere, Kalimullah and others were present.

WORD OF THE DAY

Excursion

Pronunciation: ik-SKER-zhun.

Meaning: Going out or forth : expedition; usually brief pleasure trip; deviation from a direct, definite, or proper course.

Origin: In Latin, the prefix ex- means "out of" and the verb currere means "to run." When the two are put together, they form the verb excurrere, literally "to run out" or "to extend." Excurrere gave rise not only to excursion but also to excurrent (an adjective for things having channels or currents that run outward) and excursus (meaning "an appendix or digression that contains further exposition of some point or topic"). Other words deriving from currere include corridor, curriculum, and among newer words, parkour.

Example: Lewis Carroll's Through The Looking Glass is an excursion into a fantastical world where nothing is what it seems to be, and everything appears to be what it is not.

THE ODD WORD

Erf

Elbow grease

Meaning: Energetic labour.

Origin: It has long been said that the best sort of furniture polish is 'elbow-grease', that is, there is no substitute for hard rubbing to create a lustrous shine. The term itself is older than might be imagined and dates back to at least the 17th century when it was used in print by the English metaphysical poet Andrew Marvell in Rehearsal Transpros'd, 1672: Two or three brawny Fellows in a Corner, with meer Ink and Elbow-grease, do more Harm than an Hundred systematical Divines with their sweaty Preaching.
